Impact of Media on Student Learning

- Addresses multiple learning styles
- Provides a common base of knowledge among students
- Extends the walls of the classroom to enrich student experiences
- Helps students make associations between existing knowledge and new information
- Facilitates transfer of learning from one discipline to another
- Engages students through multiple modalities
- Activates emotional involvement to increase learning and student retention
- Stimulates class discussion to reinforce instruction and reading
- Reaches students who do not respond to traditional methods of teaching

Obesity

Teenagers and young children are being placed in jeopardy of increased risk for heart diseases as well as other diseases related to obesity. Overweight kids are a prime target for taunting, bullying, and teasing which affects their self esteem and can put them at risk of emotional disorders such as depression. Below is a listing of media available. For additional resources go to Web/Max and do a subject search on "obesity".

Courier Snow Day Deliveries

The BOCES Courier will deliver to your school building on a snow day weather permitting. Media resources that need to be extended are the responsibility of the teacher and/or building media coordinator, depending on the school's policy. Any school building not wanting delivery on a snow day should contact our office at 793-8514 as soon as possible or leave a voice mail message.
